LB 1219 provides for the establishment of unified school systems. A unified system is defined as two or more Class II or III school districts participating in an interlocal agreement with approval from the State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts. Class I districts may also be part of the interlocal agreement. The bill provides that state aid and property tax resources are to be shared by the unified system. The board of a unified system is to determine the general fund levy for all participating districts and the distribution of tax resources and state aid. Unified systems are eligible for incentive payments through the state aid formula. Unified systems which discontinue the status prior to the eighth year of existence, must repay state aid incentives through a reduction in state aid in future years.

It is assumed the Department of Education will have a one-time $5,000 increase in general fund expenditures to develop a rule with procedures to be used to reestablish date for districts which do not continue in a unified system. The rule will eliminate the need to track unified districts separately for eight years. A one-time increase in computer programming expenses of $5,000 is also estimated to track unified systems and incentive payments.

The bill will have an undetermined fiscal impact for school districts which opt to become unified systems. Revenues and expenditures of individual districts will be impacted by decisions made by the board of the unified system. The inclusion of an additional category of schools eligible for incentive aid payments will not increase state aid overall, since total incentive payments are capped at 1% of the state aid appropriation. However, it is possible incentive aid payments to consolidated districts may have to be prorated at some time in the future, if incentive payments for consolidated and unified districts exceed 1% of the state aid appropriation.
